Cypresses Attacked By Unknown Killer

BY DON MARSHALL

An unknown killer is stalking our world-famed cypresses. The damage also extends to pine and eucalyptus, together with scrub growth and cultivated plants in private yards. The appearance of the affected parts is as though the windward or ocean side of the plants and shrubs had been attacked with a flame thrower. Strangely, wherever plants are sheltered from the ocean breeze they seem to be unaffected.

The trees, located generally along Scenic, show increasing damage as one travels southward from about Tenth, clear around the Point.

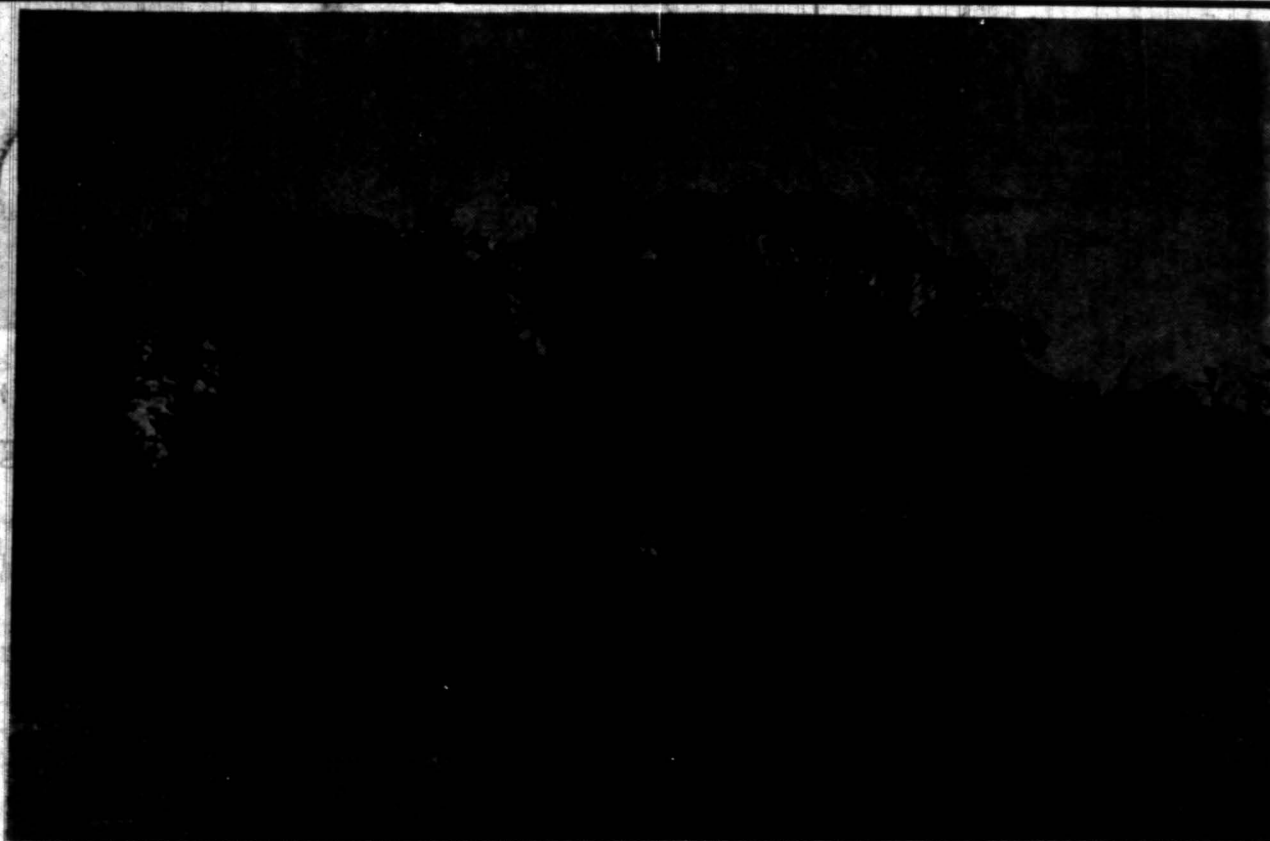

No cause for the injury has yet been determined, although Mayor Herb Blanks called in a blue-ribbon committee to examine the damage yesterday afternoon. Members of the group toured along Scenic and watched with growing alarm as they viewed greater and greater damage, culminating with the frightening sight of the terrible injury to the tops of the tall eucalyptus trees just behind Tor House.

The group was composed of John Dowdakin, forest technologist for Region 5 of the California State Division of Forestry; Bill Huffman, Monterey County Farm Advisor from the University of California; Norm McCauley, entomologist from the county farm advisor's office; Roy Bardin, plant pathologist from the Monterey County Agriculture Commission office; Dick Hittinger of Carmel's Forestry Commission, and Hugh Smith of the city's planning commission. Accompanying the group was Mayor Blanks, Carmel Street Superintendent Bill Askew, and Don Rich, superintendent of the Point Lobos Reserve. All agreed that they had never seen anything quite like this before, and no definite answers were offered.

Mayor Blanks requested that the State send a specialist to examine the trees as soon as possible to determine what, if anything, should be done. It was pointed out that some new growth is apparent just behind the dead portions at the ends of the limbs, indicating that the plants which are not too seriously damaged may already be starting to recover.

Superintendent Rich stated that he had only noticed the condition on about four trees in the Point Lobos Reserve, located near the parking lot at the Cypress Grove. It was pointed out that slight traces of the condition have been noted in Pacific Grove.

Tops of eucalyptus behind Tor House give dramatic testimony to ravages of mysterious killer attacking Carmel plant life, especially along Scenic Drive facing sea breezes.

Poison Pet Collie In Hatton Fields

A 5½-year-old Collie belonging to a leader in the fight against the proposed leash law in Hatton Fields was apparently poisoned last Monday night.

Mrs. Walter S. Roeder stated this morning that she was awakened late Monday night by the barking of the dog. She went out to investigate, since the dog had been trained as a watchdog. Finding nothing out of the ordinary, Mrs. Roeder said she went back into the house.

Tuesday morning she noticed that the dog didn't walk very well and showed other signs of illness. She called Dr. V. Joseph Marasco, local veterinarian, to assist. There was nothing Dr. Marasco could do but make the animal as comfortable as possible. He died later that day.

Contents of the dog's stomach were sent to the pathologist's laboratory for analysis. Mrs. Roeder said this morning that the dog had apparently been given a large amount of stew, something which she was never fed by her owners. She reported that the pet died from "a massive dose of strychnine."

Dr. Osman Hull, pathologist, confirmed at 12:30 today that strychnine was found in the contents of the dog's stomach.

Pierre's Mother: "P. S. - I Love You"

By Carolyn Elstob

Sunday was Mother's Day, and perhaps the most excited and beaming mother in Carmel was Jehanne Salinger Carlson, whose son, Pierre, bounded into her sunny home on Monte Verde Street shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

First a gargantuan hug, then waffles — stirred, poured and for most part eaten by the hungry visitor himself.

We tried to find out just what kind of a boy, as seen through his mother's eyes, Pierre Salinger was.

He was jolly . . . and round. Until he and his brothers entered Madison elementary school in San Francisco, they were definitely bilingual, speaking French with their Paris-born mother.

"Even before they reached school age the boys, particularly Pierre, showed musical talent. I searched San Francisco for musical toys. The piano was Pierre's instrument and often his outlet of energy. But he loved sports, too. He was younger than seven years when he gave his first piano recital during the Canadian National Exposition in Toronto, where we lived for a time. He loved the outdoors, baseball and hiking."

VALLEY VANDALISM!

Reports reached the PINE CONE this morning that the home of Edward W. Barnes, (former district attorney,) located on Ford Road in Carmel Valley was vandalized yesterday by two youngsters. The boys, eight and ten years old, have been apprehended by the Monterey County Sheriff's Office.

Approximately 75 BB's, at first thought to be .22 caliber ammunition, were used in a powerful sling-shot to break $1,000 worth of glass and glassware. Iodine was thrown all over carpets in the bedroom. An electric typewriter, transistor radio, electric adding machine, mattress, numerous records, outdoor furniture and quantities of garbage were thrown into the pool.

Mrs. Richard W. Anderson, whose family occupies the house, said the items mentioned were the property of Barnes, who is at present in Alaska.

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

By Harry the Fletcher

No. 55

Contributed by Mrs. Helen Faulkner of San Francisco who thought she'd like to try her hand at writing "Feathers." She titled it "Anyone for Nostalgia?"

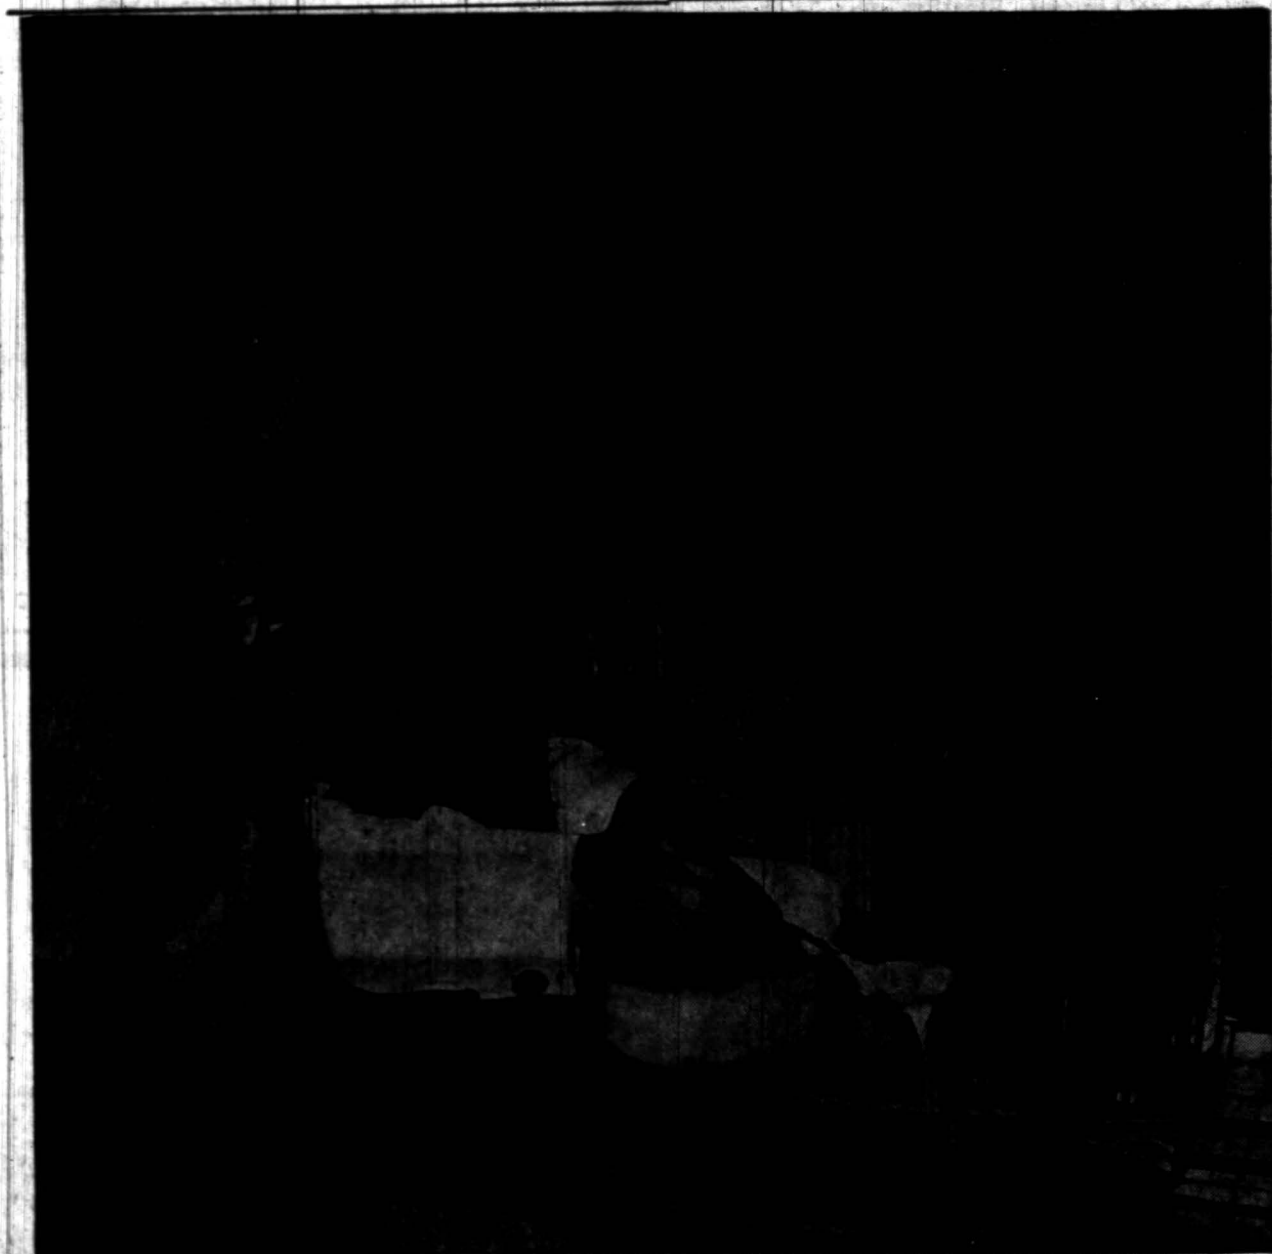

Who can remember, years before the Road went through, when all Carmel would meet to show what wonders we could do at Forest Theater, by way of toil and paint and nails, so that our current summer play might pack the house with sales?

The sculptor nationally known, the jolly Highlands cook; the ancient tar who lived alone, the youth who wrote a book; the Metropolitan artists, the poet of renown—the noblest mingled with the least to entertain our town.

And often men with patient hearts would serve the children dinner, that Mother might try out for parts and be a likely winner. So meeting and comparing schemes, come sun or stormy weather, we implemented rainbow dreams because all worked together.

Harry the Fletcher adds this comment:

But that, my friend, was years ago — today I think we're finding new elements are here, and so there's other axes grinding.

DOWN TO THE SEA

BY LES BOSSHARDT, Master Mariner

"I must go down to the seas again,
To the lonely sea and the sky." — MARSHFIELD

HE WHO WAITS

The Lachlan Van Bibbers of Carmel Valley have realized an ambition that they have been shipmates with for quite a while. Van told me today that he and his charming wife are the proud owners of the 24-foot sloop ex Mary L. The sloop's new name is "Solo."

A couple of years or so ago, the Van Bibbers were in one of my classes at the Monterey High School. At that time they had no boat, but you could see that twinkle in their eyes that said "wait and see." This couple will never be satisfied to sail Monterey Bay indefinitely. They are the voyager type. Fair winds to you Skipper and Mate.

MORE SCHOONER VISITORS

This week three schooners have made this port for a layover, either to wait out the weather, or just to break their voyages. We have had the two-mast schooners Charade, Le Voyager, and Destiny. Le Voyager is of some 115 feet, and Charade is some 105 feet in length. All of these ships were in transit from north to south. This port does grow in importance as a fine harbor to stop over in. We will see many sizeable craft in port this summer. Our harbor master, Brooks Bowhay, is doing a fine job in keeping the marina up to the highest standards and this sailor thinks there is no better run marina on this coast than our own Monterey port.

FOG AND THE COMPASS

The last few days have been foggy ones, in most cases the fog coming over the bay in the evening and clearing just before noon on the next day. On these days, Captain Lou Amies, the local compass adjuster, is the busiest. The prudent skipper will not put to sea unless he knows his compass is free of the errors that sometimes beset the magnetic compass.

The expert compass adjuster finds and corrects these errors so the skipper may have something to rely on to give him direction. The good captain not only has the vessels in Monterey to do, but also has those vessels with compass troubles in Moss Landing and Santa Cruz as well. A really busy man.

WEATHERWISE

We are enjoying the fine weather of the high pressure front which extends from Eureka to Monterey and at least a thousand miles off shore. Temperatures have been comfortable and in the seventies, warming up the earth so that when the cooler winds of the night blow across this warm land fog will develop. There are a few weak low fronts in and around Washington. Thus far they have been a little too weak to penetrate our high, so we may reasonably expect fair weather through Saturday, with a possibility of rain sometime Sunday. We can expect some fog early in the morning, clearing well before noon.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

Week after week goes by, and mail for our distinguished Arts and Literature Editor, Harry Fletcher, keeps coming in at a growing rate. I accuse him of having organized a fan club for himself, just so he will get all those lovely letters.

He just shrugs his shoulders in a superior fashion and doesn't even comment.

Well, Harry, this is my week. This week I received two poems

Great Women of the Ages Created in Miniature

Study of costume design, with years in Hollywood and Hawaii, led Hazel McClellan of Carmel to a fascinating avocation. She is a costumer of dolls, and over a period of ten years Miss McClellan has, through historical research and endless hours of working with rare fabrics, coordinating colors and stitching tiny garments, created a breathtaking collection of some 50 characters, dating from 3,000 B.C. The dolls are uniform in size (about 10 inches high), and every detail of their costuming, down to the tiniest accessories and period hair-do's has been authenticated.

We visited Miss McClellan and her parents, the Sinclair McClellans in their "old Carmel" home on Casanova where we were shown the Shakespearean character dolls that Miss McClellan will exhibit and discuss at the Carmel Woman's Club "Shakespeare Tea" next Monday afternoon.

Miss McClellan, whose days are devoted to secretarial duties in the Margaret Peasley Travel Agency, has also found time to costume productions at the Forest Theater and the Golden Bough Circle Theater. She is planning a trip to England and Scotland this summer, visiting, of course, Stratford-on-Avon, and going to Edinburgh for the Tattoo.

The Carmel Woman's Club tea committee will be headed by Mrs. Raymond Mapstead, assisted by Mrs. Lester H. Bailey, Mrs. W. H. Hastings, Mrs. Maude Howe and Mrs. Conrad Imelman at the urns. In charge of the serving will be Miss M. Augusta DeForest, Mrs. E. E. Gould, Mrs. D. L. Staniford, and Miss Elsie Weaver. The meeting will be in the Club House at 9th and San Carlos, and will convene at 2:00 p.m.

Republican Men's Club Plans Monday Meeting

A reorganization meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Men's Club has been called by the group's first president, Gunnar Norberg.

Planned for 8:00 p.m., Monday, May 18, at the Arthur Holman Music Building of Carmel High School, the meeting will be addressed by Candidate Stephen Magyar on "The Republican Fight."

SHOP TALK

Lois Williams, part owner of The Animal Kingdom, also owner of the Fair Lady Beauty Salon, continues active at Fair Lady. Manager of The Animal Kingdom is Gerald Strellner.

A new All-American restaurant will open its doors this Saturday in the Cypress West Hotel, Lincoln and Seventh. Luncheon and dinner will be served in the Gold Room, with alfresco dining in the patio, weather permitting. The hotel also caters for weddings and receptions. Host are Sid and Beulah Vaughan.

"Spring is busting out all over" — Carmel Square, the new complex on San Carlos between Ocean and Seventh. The not too tiny shops are in the Carmel tradition, peaked roofed, blue awninged. Wide sidewalks invite strollers.

Open right now, Cal's Liquors, with its shelves of cheer, its glittering glassware, gourmet specialties, and a really enormous wine cooler, plus, of course, magazines and smokers' needs, is presented by Tony Silveira, a veteran purveyor of the precious goods he sells and an expert at helping you plan stimulating hospitality.

The Adam Fox Shop, operated by Mrs. Panzer, who is assisted by Mrs. Stewart, is crammed with those difficult-to-find "little things" that make life worth living: Cutlery, leather things, special needles and threads, nautical instruments, gadgets you haven't heard of for years, and selected antiques. We haven't discovered why the name Adam Fox. Drop in and ask, for yourself.

Still in Carmel Square you'll get tantalizing glimpses through the windows of "Him," a shop of distinctive gifts for men. Owner-manager Bernie Kilpatrick is working 'round the clock toward his opening.

It has been said that everybody in Carmel comes from somewhere else, and is usually in the throes of planning to go (for a trip) to somewhere else. Mrs. Downer's Travel and Luggage Shop "The Unicorn," will make all your planning not merely painless — it'll be fun, and you'll find status buys. We'll announce the opening date.

Another treasure spot now open is Burma Imports. We saw some scrumptious fabrics, handwoven and elegant, and beautiful brass art objects being taken out of the India-labeled shipping cartons. Owner E. I. Yunos offers gifts, unique treasures for the difficult to please.

Roger Crawford Wins Lions Speaker Contest

Roger Crawford, Carmel High School junior, has been named winner of the Lions Club District 4C-6 Student Speakers Contest, the subject of which was "Moral Integrity—Imperative for Survival."

Roger Crawford, CHS Junior

To be successful in this contest, Roger had to win elimination contests, speaking at the High School, the Carmel Lions Club, then at the Zone and Regional levels, where he had to compete with student speakers drawn from the major high schools in Monterey, San Benito, Santa Cruz, and Santa Clara counties.

In order to qualify for the Lions International California and Nevada $1,500 Scholarship Award, Roger will have to win the Northern California-Nevada semi-final to be held at San Leandro on May 23, and then the California-Nevada final at La Playa Hotel, Carmel, on June 7.

It is a great achievement to progress to the present point in this contest, requiring fine aptitude in speaking as well as scholarship in preparation of the subject matter, and Roger Crawford has these gifts in abundance. His speech instructor at Carmel High School, Hadley Hicks, deserves much credit for preparing Roger for this contest.

She Will Help Edit Mademoiselle Magazine

Marcia McGinnis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. McGinnis of Carmel, has been selected a 1964 guest editor by Mademoiselle magazine.

Currently a junior at San Jose State College, Marcia will go to New York for the month of June to help edit the August edition of the top flight fashion magazine in which her photograph will be featured.

As one of the 20 young guest editors, Marcia will interview noted artists, writers, and designers. She will visit advertising agencies, publishing houses and the fashion market, at the same time working on the editorial staff. Climaxing her stay in New York will be Mademoiselle's fashion show for 2,000 retail executives during which Carmel's young winner will be introduced.

Marcia has earned a terrific bonus. From New York she will go, as Mademoiselle's guest, to visit London, Stratford-on-Avon, and Scotland.

A major in commercial art with a business minor, Marcia has combined the two in work experience. Sparkling and tireless, Marcia was much more than a sales assistant at the Mark Fenwick Shop where her posters and advertising suggestions added greatly to the shop's unique atmosphere of informality and fun. For another vacation period she was on the staff in Carmel's oldest restaurant, The Blue Bird. With an unusual sense of color, drawing, layout and typography, Marcia was a valuable employee of a Peninsula printing firm. The 21-year-old junior has traveled extensively with her family. She is affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Bringing her winning honors in the Mademoiselle contest was Marcia's complete layout for a projected 12-month national advertising campaign featuring Talbott fashion accessories presented by the Mark Fenwick Shop in Carmel.

Best-of-Show at the 14th Annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance was won by a 1935 Bugatti Coupe owned by William Harrah of Reno. The beautifully designed car was built by the late Ettore Bugatti of France and only recently acquired by Harrah. It was selected from a field of 141 entries in 18 classes. Miss Britt Andreasson of Oslo, Norway, is making the award. A record crowd of spectators turned out for the affair which was a benefit for the Community Hospital Auxiliary.

Demonstration By Potters

An open-air "clay in action" show will be conducted at Monterey Peninsula College Thursday, May 21, by Joseph Hysong, ceramics instructor, and Alice Sousa and Milton Waldman, two of his advanced students.

The demonstration will be conducted between the art and music buildings from 1 to 4 p.m. The public is invited to attend, and questions and discussions will be welcomed.

In showing spectators the entire process of making a finished product ready for the kiln, Hysong and his students will "throw" on three types of potters' wheels: stand-up, sit-down, and electric-powered.

Getting there and trying on is half the fun. "Queen" Gerda Marotta, Mrs. Hans von Richter and Mrs. Hugh Dormody prepare for the Beaux Arts Ball at Footlights and Fancy Costume headquarters.

Beaux Arts Ball Just Ten Nights Ahead!

With the third annual Beaux Arts Ball, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chapter, the American Federation of Arts, just ten days (and nights) ahead, costumes beautiful, bizarre, dreadful, avant garde and quaint, are whirling about in the minds of prospective revellers who will wend their way to the Agricultural Building of the Fair Grounds on the evening of May 23.

Mrs. Hugh Dormody, general chairman, when she isn't on the telephone, is 'trying on'. She could be termed a bit changeable and hasn't really decided yet—what to wear! She will no matter what, be a surprise. On the other hand, Mrs. Nick Marotta, queen of the ball, has had her regalia 'in the works' for weeks. Spectacular is the word!

Mrs. Hans von Richter, assisted by Mrs. Emma Rose Layton, is in charge of table reservations. She reports parties, galore, with more and more in the offing.

Mrs. Dormody and her co-chairman Mrs. William Arnold, announce that dinner will be served, 7:30 to 9 o'clock, catered by the Mark Thomas Inn. There will be two bars to bolster the timid. Reservations, that must be in by

Concours Stars In Carmel

Almost ten percent of the cars entered in the Concours d'Elegance held at Pebble Beach last week-end were garaged at Carmel Cottages in Carmel. All their owners, were housed there, too, enjoying the hospitality of the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Zack (Jinny and Johnny).

The car owners were all members of the Los Angeles T. C. Club, the Motoring Guild, and its sister organization in San Francisco, the Abingdon Rough Riders. Of the 11 members staying at Carmel Cottages, two were winners in the Concours. They were Al Chalmers of San Francisco and Don Jacqmin of Anaheim.

May 19, may be made at A.F.A. headquarters in Carmel, P.O. Box 4807, telephone Ma 4-2918.

There will be prizes for the best costumed table; working out of theme; and for individual costume.

John Gardiner of the Tennis Ranch, Carmel Valley will act as master of ceremonies and chief judge. He will be assisted in judging by Richard Osborne of Pebble Beach and Thomas Erhman of Monterey.

Ticket chairman is Mrs. Lucille Ray.

Triumphant Close of Symphony Season

With a superb presentation of Brahms' German Requiem on Tuesday night, the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of John Gosling, gave its final concert of the season. Ringing applause was proffered concert Master David Abel as conductor Gosling presented him with the best and most valued player of the season award. Gosling himself took repeated bows before an audience that was loath to close the evening.

A reception, tendered by the Board of Directors to the musicians was held in the Carmel Art Ass'n following the concert.

Symphony supporters in Salinas and on the Monterey Peninsula are devoting their efforts to increasing the number of symphony members and season ticket holders for the 1964-65 season. Symphony Week teams are under the area chairmanship of James B. Glaser for the Monterey Peninsula, and Dr. Dennis Elselman for Salinas.

"Know your Symphony" is the week's theme and representatives are stationed throughout the community.

Bon Voyage Party

A dozen friends of long years, all leaders in the world of music on Monterey Peninsula, gathered in the charming Alastair MacKay home in Carmel on Sunday evening for supper. Mrs. (Michel) MacKay and Mrs. Jay (Betty) Chappell were co-hostesses, and the honor guests were Walter and Maquita Jennings who will leave Carmel the latter part of May for a year's stay in Baghdad, where Walter, on a Fulbright grant, will teach in the Alhikma University.

Wishing Maquita and Walter bon voyage were Rev. and Mrs. H. M. M. Nicholas, Mr. and Mrs. John Gosling, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann, and Miss Angie Machado.

Yo Ho Ho and A Happy Birthday Party

A Pirate Party for ten very fierce young pirates was given last Saturday afternoon by the Martin W. Irwins in honor of the sixth birthday of their son, Michael. The pirate theme included real pirate hats bearing skull and cross bones, and heaps of (chocolate) gold. Michael's younger brothers, David and Jimmy, were there. So was his sister, Holly, as a lady pirate.

She Plays Solitaire With 7,064 Cards

How would you like to play a game of solitaire with 7,064 cards—red, white, and blue, on a board seven feet high and about eight feet across?

It's being done in Carmel right now. The game started early in April, and by mid-July the lone player will have cleared the board of its 30 horizontal rows and 1,200 slots. Her 7,064 cards (really tickets) will be gone.

The game of solitaire is being played in Carmel's tiniest office, headquarters for the 27th annual Carmel Bach Festival. The player is Mrs. Alastair (Michel) MacKay, festival executive secretary, and her tri-colored cards are festival tickets, season and single.

The advance sale of season tickets to subscribers closed May 1, and tickets for individual concerts are now available, but by mail order only. Orders should be addressed to Carmel Bach Festival, P. O. Box 503, Carmel.

The 27th annual festival opens on the evening of July 17 in Sunset auditorium, with Director-Conductor Sandor Salgo presenting Johann Sebastian Bach's Cantata No. 78; the Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 in G major, and Mozart's "Great" Mass in C minor, with the Festival Chorale and Chorus participating.

During the Festival's ten days, July 17 through July 26, there will be 19 events including concerts, recitals, chamber music, and symposiums.

Henderson-Hunter Betrothal Told

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Henderson of Carmel announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to William C. Hunter, III, the son of the William C. Hunters of Pebble Beach.

Kathleen attended Carmel schools graduating from Carmel High in 1961. She went on to Monterey Peninsula College, and is currently attending San Jose State College where William is a junior.

The young couple are planning a Sept. 6 wedding, the ceremony to be held in All Saints' Episcopal Church, Carmel.

PINE NEEDLES . . .

● Mrs. Paul McKinstry entertained members of the Carmel Eastern Star No. 581, members of her committee at tea on Friday afternoon and the tea party turned out to be a surprise birthday party for special guest Mrs. Conrad Immelman. Guests included Mesdames Jack Sullivan, Eugene Harrah, Harold R. Lewis and Paul Tekawa.

● The Donald Teagues are sort of bursting with pride these days. Daughter Hilary, she of great acting talent, will graduate next week at George Washington University, where she majored in history of art. Hilary is one of five in the graduation class of 1200, excused from final exams, because of consistently high grades throughout her college life. Planning to spend the summer at least, at home, Hilary is looking forward to making appearances in local little theaters. Those who have seen Hilary on stage are looking forward too.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Robert Ronnie Branaman will have a one-man showing of his paintings, drawings and sculpture at the Coast Gallery, Big Sur, beginning this week-end and continuing through June 5. Curator of the gallery, Mrs. LaVerne Allen, is holding a reception for the artist Saturday from 3 to 8:00 p.m.

Branaman has been working in his chosen field of art for the past 15 years. A little less than two years ago he moved to Big Sur from San Francisco, where he had been honored with two one-man shows at Batman Gallery, and one at Spatza Gallery. The artist's formal art schooling was at the University of Wichita School of Art, and at the University of Guadalajara. He has several movies produced by Film Makers Co-Op of New York, and is currently editing a magazine simply called "Fox."

Daniel Moore, a contemporary San Francisco poet, has said of Branaman's work: "These paintings confront you with that simple blast of what's here, what's going on! Any attempt to mysticize them is a failure to see them."

The works of Branaman, together with the more than 50 Big Sur artists who display their works at the Coast Gallery (the Gallery represents Big Sur artists only, and is open daily, except Mondays from 10 until 4) are currently being photographed in order to provide the Gallery with a complete photographic record of each work of art on display, or shown at the gallery.

For many weeks, John R. Williams, a native New Yorker who came to the Monterey Peninsula a few years ago to put into action his plans for a career in free-lance photography, has been working closely with Mrs. Allen in recording the many artists' exhibits. He has done considerable work similar to the project currently underway at the Coast Gallery, in recording paintings, sculpture and other works. His style is informal, using natural light, and he is equipped to do his own film and print processing, which has enabled him to turn out finished prints quickly, and as a result many of his pictures have already been seen in Peninsula publications.

He says of himself that he is happiest when he is loose in Big Sur, Carmel Valley, or along the waterfront, searching for subjects, some of which will be published later this year as a Peninsula portfolio.

This evening will be an evening of poetry and musical improvisation at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge. The public is invited to the "evening" show which begins at 8:30 when poets Eric Barker, Ben Zeller, and R. Gerald Thatcher will read from their works, and Peter Ind, bass, and Peter Melchior, percussion, will entertain with musical improvisations.

Coming to Hot Springs Lodge the last week-end in May (29-31) will be "New Visual Semantics," and exploration of space and time concepts in photography. Wynn Bullock, photographer, and Jack Welpott, instructor in photography at San Francisco State College, will review new directions in this field of art.

A true wilderness experience awaits many interested, qualified boys and girls during the summer months, here within the wild areas of the Santa Lucia Mountains and the Los Padres National Forest. Registration has begun for two well-established, well-supervised camping-hiking programs. One is Camp Quien Sabe, which is sponsored by the Monterey City Recreation Department and is located in the upper Palo Colorado Canyon area. Here is a week of camping, nature study, hiking, living together in a beautiful outdoor setting, for young people from ages 8 to 17. There will be three such sessions, one week each, beginning June 22, June 29, and July 6. This will be the 13th year of operation for this camp, and the third year at the secluded, wooded Palo Colorado Canyon location.

Camp Quien Sabe's director is Duke Thayer, who has been associated with recreation and camping activities since boyhood. He is a past Director of Recreation for the City of Monterey and is presently associated with Pacific Grove High School. Mrs. Thayer is supervisor at the camp, and is a teacher at Fremont Junior High School.

For further information about Camp Quien Sabe, telephone 372-8121, Extension 16, Recreation Department.

Another wilderness activity, entering its fourth consecutive year, is that of the Burro-Pack Trips designed for qualified Girl Scouts, offered by the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council. These packing, hiking, camping trips, will have as their point of departure, Camp Ca-wa-tre in the Arroyo Seco area of the Los Padres National Forest. There will be two trips, of two weeks each, beginning June 22. For further information communicate with Miss Portia Petersen of the Monterey Girl Scout Office, telephone 375-4482.

Chinese Shadow-Play Exhibit At Local AFA

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter, American Federation of Arts, will have an exhibition of Chinese Shadow-Play figures, May 15 to June 10 at the gallery in Carmel.

These unusual, two-dimensional figures, made of goatskin parchment and luminously colored, are from the collection of Miss Pauline Benton. Miss Benton, an authority on these ancient shadow theater creations, has won distinction in New York, San Francisco and abroad for her Red Gate Players, of which she was co-producer. She will give demonstrations of the shadow figures in action on Wednesday afternoons during the exhibition.

The display and demonstrations are open to the public without charge. The AFA gallery is located on Lincoln Street between Ocean and 7th Avenues, in Carmel. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays; Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.

Letters . . . to The Editor

Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council
May 4, 1964

Carmel Pine Cone.
Dear Editor: On behalf of the local Girl Scout Council, I wish to thank you most sincerely for donating us a subscription to your paper. By receiving the neighborhood paper, we hope to be better informed on area activities and thereby have the Carmel Girl Scouts take a more active part in community service, which is a part of the Girl Scout program.

Sincerely,
Barbara Haber.

2411 South Main, Apt. 6,
Holston, Texas 77002,
May 6, 1964.

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone.
Dear Sir:

A Planning Commission is an extremely useful group of citizens whenever there is a change to be made in a charming town such as Carmel. But their usefulness reaches a limit of extreme whenever the point of "scraping" a long-honored and loved Bulletin Board simply because it has "outgrown its usefulness."

One of the many fond memories I have of almost-Paradise Carmel-by-the-Sea is the Bulletin Board. I was a stranger in town, an intruder, who happened to wander down Ocean Avenue, mingle with the local folks throughout the village, and so discover the Bulletin Board, one of the most outstanding examples of what there is to love in Carmel.

Did you ever attempt to explain to anyone unlucky enough not to have visited Carmel, why it is unlike any other place in the world? The beautiful flowers? No, plants bloom other places. The sea? There's thousands of miles of seashore. The quaint buildings? Fail-ure again. There are several vil-lages of equally charming build-ings, one near Houston in fact. The artists? Certainly not, for there's the Left Bank, and Greenwich Vil-lage. It's a combination of all of these things. In addition to the many intangibles which are beyond description. One falls in love with

Carmel as easily as if it were a beautiful woman, or at least I did. It's a place to live, work and even-tually die, fully contented with what life and Carmel, if the two can be separated, have given. Car-mel is the Somewhere Over The Rainbow, Alice's Wonderland, Scarlett O'Hara's Tara, my Utopia, which I lovingly call "my adopted hometown."

Yet with all the charm Carmel offers, there is now something miss-ing. Utopia has no bulletin board. Won't someone please plead with the Planning Commission to re-store the "loved antique." Please convince the Commission that the Board has not lost its usefulness; that it is needed as surely as we Americans need our Star Spangled Banner, as surely as the British need their Queens and Tea.

Sincerely,
Ben Ellis.

Tamalpais Mountain Play Feature of May 17

Final rehearsals are under way for "Tamalpais," the annual Moun-tain Play to be presented May 17 and 24 at 2 p.m. atop Mt. Tamal-pais, under the direction of author Dan Tobler.

A cast of over 150 headed by Phyllis Courtney in the title role, and Al Flower as Gaspar, her lov-er, will present the fast-moving pageant as the 47th Mountain Play and the second time that "Tamal-pais" has been produced here. Its premiere was in 1928.

Ample parking space will be available within close walking dis-tance of the theater, with tickets on sale at the gates both Sundays, according to Marion Hayes Cain, president of the Mountain Play Association.

Red Cross Course For Mothers, Housewives

The Carmel Red Cross has sched-uled a Standard First Aid Course to enroll mothers and housewives. The class will be taught by Mar-garet W. Barnes, D.O., who will place emphasis on First Aid in the Home.

The first class will be held at the chapter, Dolores at Eighth, on Thursday, May 21, starting at 9:00 a.m. and lasting until 12 noon. There will be three, three-hour ses-sions following the first class, at times to be agreed upon by the in-structor and the class. The text-book is 75 cents, the instruction is free. The mothers should tele-phone the chapter, 624-6921, week-days between 9 to 5 to enroll.

In California... after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another be-verage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasant reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Come to the senior play!!! Yes, it's almost here—The Mouse That Roared!!! This play will be presented on two separate evenings. Performances will be held at Sunset auditorium on Friday, May 15, and on Saturday, May 16. Bring the entire family — it's a comedy everyone will enjoy!!! Curtain time is at 8:30 p.m., and there will be NO reserved seats, so be sure to come early. The price of admission is $1.00 for adults, 75c for students without a student body card, 50c for students with a student body card, and 50c for children under 12.

The senior class is truly indebted to Mrs. Alexander for all the time and effort she has put out in directing the play. Thanks to her expert guidance, the play has progressed beautifully, and everyone's talents have been well used.

Francis Kibler and Laddy Kratky will play the leading roles. Other cast members include Carlin Arriola, Jim Purvis, Susanna Scuitto, Polly Keogan, Daphne Myers, Barbara Bruce, Martha Roberts, Franny Forsman, Nancy Chapman, Melody Prince, Greg Stitt, Carl Burger, John Tracey, Ken Woolams, Robert Zerfas, Alan Nishimura, Ricky Wilkerson, Bob Holmes, Steve Arnon, Susan Simmons, Matt Little, Jim Miller, Roger Swim, Sherrie May.

Jerry Zellhoefer is the student director. He has also been responsible for sound. Mike Becker is the stagemaster and is in charge of the lights. Daphne Myers has done the job of publicity chairman.

Armed Forces Day

Featured At Fort Ord

A picnic in the woods may not sound military, but it will be one of the big features at this year's Armed Forces Day celebration at Fort Ord this Saturday (May 16).

The picnic will be held in the oak trees directly across North-South Road from the football stadium. Army cooks will have continuing supplies of hamburgers and cheeseburgers coming off field stoves, along with baked beans, potato chips, apple pie, and drinks. For those who like to "Dagwood" their sandwiches, there will be the necessary fixin's that make hamburgers the most American of all foods.

Cost of the picnic meal will be 65c for adults, 35c for children under 12. Adding a festive air to the whole affair, the 52nd Army Band of Fort Ord will play during the noon hour.

Those who prefer vocal music should take Tour "A" to Service Club No. 1, where the Fort Ord Soldiers Chorus will greet guests with "The American Heritage," at 11:45 a.m. and at 2:15 p.m.

The tours leave every 20 minutes from the vicinity of the football stadium beginning at 11 a.m.

Tours "B" and "C" will take visitors to hobby and craft shops, the sports arena, and reception station.

And finally, for those who like noise and action, the brigades will have miniature trainfire ranges; individual training in cover and concealment; land mine warfare with small demolition charges simulating mines; flamethrowers; recoilless rifles and anti-tank weapons in action in the football stadium from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

LAW IN ACTION

WAIVERS

A driver giving a misleading hand signal may be held to blame for the harm that results. Likewise, a pedestrian who misleads a driver may find that he has no legal claim if he gets hurt as a result.

Take Patsy, for example. On a sunny day she went walking and had to cross a busy six lane street divided by a concrete strip. The crosswalk had signals. Patsy was a slow walker. She walked half way across the street, then paused as if to rest on the concrete divider. Thinking she would stay there, Jones drove on and hit her when she seemed to change her mind and stepped off the curb.

Patsy was hurt and later sued Jones.

As a rule, the crosswalk pedestrian has the right-of-way. In a lawsuit the burden is on the driver to show that the walker had waived his claim to the right-of-way.

Here the court ruled for Jones: Although Patsy had the right-of-way, she had "waived" it, that is, by her actions she had yielded it. By her pause she had created a reasonable inference that she had given Jones the right-of-way. Patsy's pause on the divider had led Jones to believe that she was going to stop for a while.

A person who motions on a driver at the crosswalk and then suddenly changes his mind cannot complain if the driver hits and injures him.

A person might also "consent" to an intentional injury. In a famous case, Smith got into a wrong line, thinking he was in line to board a boat. Instead, he lined up by mistake to get a vaccination. As he came up, the doctor asked him to roll up his sleeve and hold out his arm. Smith did so without question. The doctor jabbed him with a needle. Smith could not now sue for the wrongful injection. The court held his action had implied consent.

Some people, like young children or the mentally or physically handicapped, are legally incapable of giving their consent or of waiving their rights. Hence a driver must be most careful, for example, when driving where children or aged persons are likely to be.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

MPC To Present "Off Broadway" Swim-Dance First Annual Navy Relief Music Festival Success

"Off Broadway," second annual swim-dance show to be planned, produced and performed by Monterey Peninsula College students, will be presented twice this year: Thurs. and Fri., May 21 and 22, 8:15 p.m. in and around the college pool.

The evening show will be open to the public without charge, but because seating is limited, spectators are urged to come early. No tickets will be issued.

Under the direction of faculty advisors Diane Smith and Patricia Elliott, student director Gloria Lewis has prepared 12 "acts." She has been assisted by Judy Hodgkinson and Mardie Allatt, synchronized swimming directors, and Nancy Barkley, dance director.

Such numbers as "Li'l Abner," "Rain in Spain," "Surrey With the Fringe on Top," "Walk on the Wild Side," "Black Orpheus," "Brigadoon," and "Tonight" will be presented, some featuring dancers, some the swimmers, and some the two large groups coordinated. Colorful costumes, lighting and music will enhance the effects.

Also featured will be Donn Squire, 1955 AAU National Synchronized Swimming Champion and coach of the Fort Ord Ordettes, and MPC folksinger Dewie Dutton.

Some 40 men and women students have been rehearsing for over a month for the event.

A Review

A series of music events was heralded on the Monterey Peninsula this past week-end on the occasion of the First Annual Navy Relief Music Festival held at the Naval Post-Graduate School.

The San Francisco Ballet was presented in the Friday evening opening program. Despite the many problems of outdoor staging, lighting, and music sound perfection, this young and versatile group completely held its audience at full attention throughout the damp and chilly evening.

The pastel-shaded costumes of "Sinfonia" were as if they had been especially designed for the backdrop stage. The simplicity of dress in "The Set," with the Dave Brubeck music was also tastefully chosen. The "Classic" styled habits used in the "Divertissement d'Auber" gave the soloists and the entire corps de ballet a continuity effect throughout.

The orchestra was not advantageously placed, as its musical sound did not carry forth at its best. One of the many hazards of outdoor musical presentation. One wished a more complete music sound could have come forth from the large orchestra placed before the stage under the direction of Gerhard Samuel. It was apparent that this did not interfere with the dancers as they faired well.

Had this particular program been presented in the daytime, I am sure that many more interested individuals would have patronized it.

Saturday evening, Roger Williams and Company was presented in a light diversified program of popular show hits integrating classical themes at times. This added considerable spice, color, and interest to his performances. The Ensemble displayed a group of musicians thinking sympathetically, thus pleasing the lighter music enthusiasts.

Then at the Sunday afternoon matinee, the foliage and birds scattered sparkling colors against the bright blue sky that a Monterey-California day can provide. There was magic in the air. Mary Costa sang from "Carmen," by Bizet "Je dis que rien ne m'épouvante," and an aria, "Sempere Libera" from "La Traviata," by Verdi.

Accompanying Miss Costa was The California Youth Orchestra under its musical director, Aaron Sten. They did this rather well. A brisk "Star Spangled Banner" opened the afternoon concert, followed by the Mendelssohn "Symphony No. 3" (Scotch). Here the orchestra played rather convincingly, especially the last two-sectioned movement.

Miss Costa was in excellent voice and completely captivated her audience, acknowledging the fine reception from both the audience and the orchestra with a radiant and beaming smile and "Thank you." Returning again in the second half with an offering from "Mignon" by Thomas, "Je suis Titania," and Nedda's Bird Song from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci." Also included was "Ebben? Ne andre lontano" from "La Wally" by Catalani.

The gifted soprano sang two encores. In the first half Musetta's waltz from "La Boheme," and as her closing number as Cunegonde in Leonard Bernstein's "Candide" she demonstrated her tremendous acting ability.

The California Youth Orchestra closed the First 1964 Navy Relief Music Festival by playing the "1812 Overture" by Tschalkowsky rather well and certainly noisily, and a John Phillip Souza March. As this young group of musicians continues it will have to offer the public a more smooth and polished performance. Many more challenges are to be met when an orchestra group accepts an outdoor playing assignment.

I do believe that the sponsoring organization encountered the many problems and the solutions rather well, and the future attempts will be a very welcome addition to the Monterey Peninsula music events, not only financially profitable, but also as a tremendous music listening experience. —M. S.

Embryo Artists Invited To Membership Meet

One of those delightful persons who enjoys helping others realize their ambitions, has now realized her own ambition in the opening of the Marina Art Barn Association's non-profit workshop and gallery in Marina. This is how Margaret Fogg, a former resident of Carmel Valley, and well known in local art circles, has succeeded in making her own dream come true.

The Barn was first opened in December of last year with a show in which over 30 artists participated. Another was held on May 10, equally as successful.

Margaret Fogg's dream was of an art center, uncommercialized, and a place where anyone with a sincere desire to develop his own creativity could find space, equipment, and possible instruction, besides the stimulation of others with mutual interests.

The Art Barn is situated on Lakeside and Drew streets, which is west of the railroad tracks in Marina. A special invitation has been extended to interested persons to attend the next membership meeting at the Art Barn on Monday evening, May 18, at 8 o'clock. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 384-8474.

Regular going activities include a Tuesday evening life class conducted by Pat Carey of Monterey; on alternate Thursday evenings, Robert Means of Pacific Grove conducts a painting class. A pottery group is being started with Katherine Allen of Carmel, and a group interested in photography also have an outlet here. Those interested in other media who wish to form a study or work group are invited to do so. Many small week-end showings are planned where artists may show their work with no hanging fee.

A youthful, enthusiastic and energetic board of directors is back of Mrs. Fogg, who are able to make all this available for operating expenses only, which are nominal.

Francis Hibler and Laddy Kratky appearing in "The Mouse That Roared," Senior play at the Sunset Auditorium tomorrow night.

New Poet Pleads For Recognition By Muse

There came into the Pine Cone office one day last week a handsome young gentleman of color, who brought with him some samples of his writings, hoping for publication and recognition.

His work, which he insists should be reproduced exactly as he wrote them, even to the spelling, has a plaintive sob to them which we think is self explanatory, besides revealing a certain quality which may need some direction or guidance, but is, nevertheless, talent.

The young man mails his work from Seaside, but gives his home address as Oakland. His pen name, St. Pierre Ures, speaks of Caribbean origin, possibly St. Martinique, since he occasionally drops a word in the French language. His real name, apparently, is John I. Dyson. Below are a couple of samples of this man's efforts — H.W.F.

Children's Drawings Go On Display at El Rancho

An exhibition of children's art paintings and drawings—is to be sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts, in the Community Room of Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, Carmel Valley, May 18 to June 5.

Represented will be original creations of children in the elementary grades, Kindergarten through 6th, from Carmel Woods, Sunset, and River schools. There will be no charge for admission.

Hours for the exhibition will be: weekdays, 9-12; Saturday and Sunday, 1:00 to 4:30 p.m.

WHADUYA GONNA GIVE ME, MY TALENT

Alright Writing!!!

A man's got to live some kind of way ...
Whaduya gonna give me,
My talent?

I'm tired, I'm sick ...
I struggle with prose every day.

Alright Writing!!!
Whaduya gonna give me,
My talent?
Fa' I'm 'bout to han' up your plight.

And it hurts me so
Just to let it go ...
But one day I know
When I'm not starving anymore,
I will return after you
And glow writing the things
Never read before.

Huh! Alright Writing !!
Whaduya gonna give me,
My talent?

ST. PIERRE URES
Seaside, California.

HOLD ON!

Something inside of me
Way back deep in my mind
Is saying, "Hold on for
Where there is a will
There is a way.

Often the struggle seem so hard
Trying to achieve with creativity
But, I try not to realize the toll
And my minute poetic ability.

As I plunder through the days
I wonder when I will be known
Maybe this will come after my grave
Has been dug and shown.

But whatever that something is,
It continues to say, "Hold on
Bill, For where there is a will
There is a way."

ST. PIERRE URES
Seaside, California.

MAIDENHAIR

I found a lacey fern; and eagerly
My eyes absorbed the tender green;
The yearning to caress the fragile fronds
Was like the longing for sweet, clear water
When the thirsty heart is dry —
For clean, cool breezes
When the soul is stagnant
With surfeit of enveloping desire;
And for the fresh, unsullied
Loveliness of youth, without remorse.
The maidenhair, bejeweled with
The misty spray of bright, cascading water,
Bent and gently swayed
Above a turbulent, mountain stream;
High above the reach
Of my marauding hands —
A green-robed neophyte,
Cloistered in fragile strength
Against the elements — and man.

GRACE R. BALLARD
Santa Barbara, California.

1869!

The golden spike joined rails across the continent.
The North observed its first Memorial Day.
Veterans graduated with my father at Harvard.
"Passage to India," chanted Walt. He foresaw
An era of hope, promise and brotherhood.
Women voted in Wyoming though their place was Populating the land men explored and settled.
Their industries grew up with sons and grandsons.
They seeded faith and vice; saw only morning:
Work for all on farms, in factories; overlooked
Slums in shadow, breeders of breadlines, depressions.
The rounding century has kept and broken promises.
Nation that matured from rails to space, and global Awareness learns still . . .

PHOEBE W. HOFFMAN
Carmel Valley.

PATTERNS

Sheep clouds, not ewes or rams, but lambs, all;
Lake sky, with wool island dots;
Electric sun, burning with a squint;
Pine sprays discreetly hovering to solitude protect;
Bosom-warm, richly-fragrant earth,
Wearing wild oat skirt with
Flower pattern of mustard yellow,
Embraces them, entwined, and,
In a hush, their love now springs.

MICHAEL T. McGAUGHEY
Carmel.

COLOR-FILMED SUMMER

This day is interweave of movement, color, sound.
High riding turquoise drift of sunlit cloud is sliced, at times, by airplane vapor trails.
In rose-hued rhythms, coral bells are swayed
by copper breezes blown from sun-bronzed hills.
Whirlpools of mingling beryl, blue, grey, eddy and wheel where feathered song wings swiftly overhead.
Sharp shafts of wheat thrust, emerald-green through moist soil.
to join earth's quickening saber blades of grass.
From deep jade foliage, break fat amber buds
so soon to open magnolia-white.
Gold-banded bees, in hurried labor, buzz from petaled tree to flowered hibiscus hedge:
carnelian, yellow-splashed.

My thoughts are silver slivers of delight that keep their pace with sun from flush of dawn to evening's descending flames.

MABEL M. HEINSON
Berkeley, California.

CANINE SNOBBERY

Poodles have a disturbing way
Of making me want to nod and say,
"How do you do?"

I haven't ever done it yet
Lest they say, "Madame, have we met?"
(Well, would you?)

Feature Carmel Artist
In San Francisco Show

Jens Risom Designs (California Inc.) will present the first of planned Art Exhibits in their recently opened showrooms, Jackson Square San Francisco.

Jens Risom, nationally known throughout the architectural and interior design field, not only for his designs of interior furnishings, but also for lecturing and television appearances, has personally selected "Nong" of Carmel for this showing.

Nong has spent most of his life exploring every technical phase of painting and sculpting. His inventiveness and fresh insight in sculpture and painting has won him wide recognition, and he has had "one-man" exhibits throughout the east and areas surrounding San Francisco, including the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. He recently has been selected to research a program for teaching art to the blind, and plans to concentrate on this project, limiting his showings to but three this year. The Jens Risom exhibit will be his only show on the west coast.

These paintings will be on display during the months of May and June at the Risom showrooms, and inquiries will be invited by phoning DO 2-5074.

Saratoga Arts & Crafts
Show This Sunday

Upwards of 2,000 visitors are expected in Saratoga Sunday (May 17) to attend the Rotary Club's seventh annual Arts and Crafts Festival, which will be held in the Village Shopping Center on Big Basin Way in the center of town, between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Over 80 artists from scores of Central California communities, including Carmel, have made reservations to exhibit their paintings, ceramics, sculpture, and various crafts items, announces Kenneth I. Marts, general chairman. The exhibit items will also be for sale, and in the past, art lovers from all walks of life have made purchases, the chairman said.

During the day most of the artists will carry on demonstrations of their work, while Rotaryans will assist their husbands by serving tea and cookies to the public.

Proceeds from the Festival will go to Montalvo Association to help that non-profit organization carry on the program of art, literature, music, drama, and architecture at the Villa Montalvo cultural center at Saratoga.

Thus far, artists from Carmel who will participate include Bernice Fouratt and Robert Grabowski.

Ojai Music Festival

Slated For May 29 - 31

Ingolf Dahl, noted conductor-composer-pianist and professor of music at USC, is the musical director of the 18th Ojai Festival of music, being held on May 29, 30, 31 in Ojai, California.

The Saturday night concert is outstanding. It starts with Rousel's Concerto for Orchestra opus 34, Dahl conducting the Ojai Festivals full orchestra. Though composed in 1927, this is the first California performance of this brilliant work.

Following will be Schoenberg's dynamic piano Concerto opus 42. It is noteworthy that this work, by one of the greatest masters of the century, composed in Los Angeles, has never before been performed in Southern California. The brilliant and versatile California pianist Lillian Steuber will be soloist. Miss Steuber has received the accolades of critics all over America, and has been said to have "lustrous virtuosity." She is professor of piano at the USC school of music.

The program concludes with Brahms's Serenade No. 1 for Orchestra, opus 11. Though Brahms at his best, there is no record of a performance of it for nearly 20 years.

The other programs being given are equally exciting and include chamber music, choral groups, music for wind instruments, and a string quartet, offering a selection to be conjured with.

For reservations, accommodations and information write to Ojai Festivals, P. O. Box 185, Ojai, California.

Arts Scholarships Now Available At Stephens

Perry-Mansfield School of the Theater and Dance of Stephens College, Steamboat Springs, Colorado, announces 15 scholarships for the 1964 summer session, June 28 to August 19. Eligible for these scholarships are teachers who will teach in elementary grades or in high schools in 1964-65, and students who will take courses in 1964 in colleges and universities to prepare for teaching.

Recipients of grants will take courses in one of the arts—dance, drama, stage production, speech, singing, art—or a combination of these courses; will audit classes for children in these arts; will confer with teachers experienced in using the theater arts as an aid to classroom teaching.

The scholarships are for $100, to be credited toward total summer expenses. Some students can supplement this amount by offering one or two hours daily of work needed for the running of the theater school. For information about college credits and for other information and application form, write to Portia Mansfield, Steamboat Springs, Colorado.

Give Engagement Shower For Tina Ruth Tinker

Miss Tina Ruth Tinker, daughter of the Clifford W. Tinkers of Carmel, whose engagement to William Robert Klein, Jr., of North Syracuse, New York, was recently announced, was the honor guest at a "miscellaneous" shower given for her last week by a close family friend, Mrs. Herbert Poffenberger of Carmel Knolls.

Tina, who is a senior at Carmel High School, opened gifts from a host of friends.

Tina Ruth Tinker with her mother, Mrs. Clifford W. Tinker and her grandmother, Mrs. Harold C. Painter.

A buffet supper was served to the dining table with a miniature bride and groom centerpiece.

Tall brass candle sticks were bedecked with pastel ribbon streamers, caught at the table's edge by white ceramic doves. The table as well as the gift-wrap ribbons were carefully garnered to be used for the wedding rehearsal bridal bouquet.

Well toward the close of the evening, the future groom appeared. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Klein of North Syracuse where he attended school before enrolling in Buffalo State Teachers College in Buffalo, N.Y. He is currently a student at the U.S. Defense Language School, Presidio of Monterey. The nuptials will take place in Carmel Presbyterian Church on June 27.

Folk Singers At M.P.C. Saturday Night

The 23-foot musical acoustic shell, purchased recently by Monterey Peninsula College for public concerts and lectures, will be used for the first time at the Joe and Eddie - Stan Wilson concert Saturday night.

The shell, a "chamber" model, is made of resin-reinforced fiberglass in seven segments. It is similar to the larger shell used for the Leonard Bernstein concert at the Monterey Fairgrounds last year, according to Duncan Sprague, MPC director of activities.

Joe Gilbert and Eddie Brown, popular young recording and TV singers, and Wilson, one of America's foremost folk artists, will appear in the MPC stadium at 8 p.m. on Saturday.

The concert, sponsored by the Associated Students, will benefit the college's John F. Kennedy Memorial Student Loan Fund.

Pierre I Love You

"Was he ever spanked?" Mrs. Carlson chuckled. "Indeed yes, when he was small enough for me to manage. You see, I have a quick French temper, so I used to go off to my room to, as you say, cool off, before I spanked. The boys adored their father and made him their pal. Pierre was just 14 when Mr. Salinger was killed in an accident, and he felt the loss greatly.

"Yes, Pierre went to dancing school. I don't remember that he went through any girl-crazy stage. Our house was always crowded with boys and girls . . . Do eat another waffle, Pierre"

Pierre grew up in an atmosphere of journalism. His maternal grandfather was publisher of a Paris newspaper; his mother a noted music critic. Everyone in the household was an individualist, but the family had strong common interests and they found politics, local, national and international, a fascinating study.

While on the staff of the Chronicle, Pierre was granted numerous absences in order to concentrate his fine mind on the progress of the California Central Democratic Committee.

But this is not a resume of Pierre, the man in politics—it is a fleeting glance back to Pierre, the boy who visited his mother in Carmel last Sunday.

It would be difficult to say who paid tribute to whom in the sunny kitchen where three generations gathered 'round the waffle iron. — Mrs. Jehanne Salinger Carlson, her son Pierre with his charming wife and his children. It was a family party, and we felt like an intruder—we caught Pierre giving a wicked wink to his mother — we went home.
